In room entertainment he calmly waved formal jacket and shirt, kicked a few balls along with the governor of Varna Yordan Simeonov. When he examined the subsequent crawl canteens who would envy and five star restaurants, and then in the press room with satisfaction noted that the idea is from 1992 when the Moscow government is negotiating with the Bulgarian authorities and the local authority for the establishment of Camp in Kamchia. "So far here rested on 400 children per shift, and now the new capacity for another 600. You will lie not only the children of Moscow, but also disabled and injured in various incidents, poor and sick people who can recover their health and to study both here. In the summer we will use the database only for children, in the autumn will organize schools and provide opportunities for health promotion and our veterans, "said Moscow Mayor.
